Let's Start!

Is there anything more enjoyable than a summer music festival?

Learning Outcome

Describe routines and regular activities in a wider range of social and work contexts.

Ask your partner:

- Have you ever been to a music festival? A street festival?
- Was it in the summer?
- What kind of people did you see?

Can Do Statements

- I can talk about celebrations.
- I can make suggestions and talk about what is preferable.
- I can ask clarifications about the characteristics of a thing.

Let's Explore!

Here's how Montrealers beat the winter blues! Enjoy the summer and the Montreal Jazz Festival with them!

* In northern countries, winters can be cold, long and dark. The "winter blues" is when you miss the long days of summer.

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

Have you ever experienced the excitement of a live performance? How breathtaking is it to feel the emotions of a jazz solo? Where else would you rather be?

I took the day to walk around the Festival. First, I watched some of the free shows. There were probably two million people on the streets. I heard a mixture of sounds, from experimental jazz to conventional blues music. The cafés were filled with activity. People were dancing happily in the streets. Then I continued along to Parc Musical, where joyful children were running around. How idyllic was that moment? In a few months Montreal will once again become a cold, snowy winter city. I would rather enjoy the summer while it lasts! I would rather celebrate music and life in unison with an entire city!

If you are a jazz lover like me, you owe it to yourself to visit the Festival at least once in your life. I'd rather warn you though: you might want to come back every year after that!

Let's Practice!

Target Words

- brehtaking (adjective): astonishing and awe-inspiring
e.g. This jazz performance is breathtaking.
- solo (noun): a part in a musical piece where one instrument plays unaccompanied e.g. This saxophone solo was amazing!
- experimental (adjective): involving a new and innovative style
e.g. I'm a fan of experimental jazz!
- conventional (adjective): following a traditional style
e.g. I prefer conventional blues music.
- joyful (adjective): feeling great happiness
e.g. Joyful children were running around.
- idyllic (adjective): extremely happy and peaceful; perfect
e.g. How idyllic was that moment?
- unison (noun): happening simultaneously
e.g. I celebrated life and music in unison with an entire city!
- to owe it to oneself (expression): to need to do something for one's own benefit
Example: You owe it to yourself to visit the Festival at least once in your life!

Learning Points

Would Rather for What Is Preferable

We use the expression would rather to ask for or express preference. We generally used its contracted form ('d rather), followed by the basic or infinitive form of the verb.

Examples:

- I would rather celebrate music and life in unison with an entire city!
- You'd rather enjoy the summer while it lasts!
- I'd rather warn you though: you might want to come back every year after that!

You can use the expression in its negative form, too. For this, you use the expression not right after would rather.

- We'd rather not be in crowded places.
- You'd rather not miss the festival.
- I'd rather not spend the whole day at the festival.

Questions With How + adjective

You use How + adjective in a question if you want to know how someone or something is.

Examples:

- How breathtaking is it to feel the emotions of a jazz solo?
- How idyllic was that moment?
